A man was discovered shot to death inside a south Minneapolis home Saturday evening, prompting a search for a suspect that lasted into the night. Police were called to a home in the 3600 block of Brooklyn Avenue S., near 30th Avenue N.E., just before 5:30 p.m. When they arrived, they discovered the body of a 36-year-old man, said police spokesman Sgt. Mike Ernster. Ernster said the victim's mother called police to report her son had been killed. She said she wasn't able to find a body or any other signs of her son's death. Ernster said authorities don't believe there was a murder-suicide, and that the mother didn't know her son was alive in the house. Ernster said the man who found the body and called police was a family friend. "This is a very sad case," Ernster said. Police cordoned off the area of the crime scene Saturday evening while they investigated the scene. A crime-scene technician and investigators searched the home, eventually bringing out four large trash bags of evidence. Ernster said the bags were being processed at the scene Saturday night, but he was not sure when they would be available for review. 27.07.2014 Wir mögen uns alle mal ungern betroffen machen, wir schreiben uns all
